

2. Survival Instinct

Each year, in spite of racism and discrimination, lack of good paying jobs, poor schools, and many negative influences, thousands of young people make it. They are going to school, getting and keeping jobs, raising families, and doing things that actively promote their lives, freedom and future economic opportunity. Unfortunately, due to a lot of negative information, examples and the codes of the streets, many are headed in the wrong direction.

It's sad, cause I bet Brenda doesn't even know. Just cause your in the ghetto doesn't mean ya can't grow But oh, that's a thought, my own revelation. Do whatever it takes to resist the temptation.
